

Compass Medical named 2011 Harvard Pilgrim Healthcare Physician Group Honor Roll Recipient

OCTOBER, 2011 - Compass Medical has been awarded the 2011 Harvard Pilgrim Healthcare Physician Group Honor Roll Award. This award recognizes Compass Medical's superior performance across 17 health care quality measures including comprehensive diabetes care, preventive care screening for breast and cervical cancer, asthmatic medication use, and numerous other clinical management activities. Compass Medical joins nine of sixteen Partners Regional Service Organizations who also received this distinction.

As part of Harvard Pilgrim's ongoing strategy to recognize and reward quality care, Harvard Pilgrim has created an "Honor Roll" of physician groups whose commitment to high quality care has earned them the distinction of membership on the Harvard Pilgrim Physician Group Honor Roll. The Honor Roll for adult and pediatric practices is based on performance against national HEDIS quality benchmarks, as reported by NCQA.

Harvard Pilgrim has a long history of disseminating comparative performance data on quality to its network providers. Harvard Pilgrim's review of the best performing practices enables them to learn about physician group based strategies, tools, and techniques to improve performance in managing quality and to facilitate the dissemination of best practices across the Harvard Pilgrim network. In addition, use of quality performance information is increasingly becoming a key tool for members to use in selecting a primary care physician.

Compass Medical has showcased a proven track record for excellent quality care and has received this HPHC Honor Roll recognition in past years. This year's award continues to highlight the outstanding and hard work that Compass Medical Providers and Staff are dedicated to achieving.
